Indian Vet Leads Yanks Into Berlin

BERLIN, July 3 (AP)—The veteran Second Armored (Hell on Wheels) Division of the American Army deployed in the suburbs and the first American soldier entered the Russian-held center of Berlin today. A red-skinned hero of the U. S. Army jeeped down Unter Den Linden and women wept with joy at the sight of the American.

Pvt. 1c Harvey Natchees of the Ute Indian Reservation, who wears a Silver Star, Bronze Star and Purple Heart with Oak Leaf cluster, was the first American soldier to enter the center of the capital.

The main force of the division was deployed in suburban Zhlendorf to the south.

(Exchange Telegraph, in a dispatch to London, said the British occupation force of about 15,000, was expected to arrive in the main part of the city tonight, the dispatch said, while the main British force would arrive tomorrow.)

After rounding a shell-scarred victory monument in the Tiergarten, taking a smart salute from a Red Army woman triffic cop, and started for the remains of the Kaiser's palace, a lot happened to Natchees in a few minutes:

A Berliner on a bicycle asked the American from Utah to look up his brother, Pvt. William Schwellbech, somewhere with American forces in France.

Margaret Titze, who said she was born in Sheepshead Bay, N. Y., pleaded for a ride to Potsdam.

Registering the distance on his speedometer, Natchees went eight miles through Berlin without seeing one block of buildings that was intact.

"It took quite a beating," he commented.

He saw girls in freshly ironed frocks working in chain lines removing bricks from mammoth piles of wreckage. He saw women and children and old men queued up by the hundreds in front of bread stores.

He noted a red flag on a pole outside headquarters of the "German Communist party."

The east-west Axis boulevard through the blasted Tiergarten was still decorated with colossal portraits of Stalin, Roosevelt and Churchill, which had been raised for the previous Red army celebration.

B 29s Again Rip Jap Oil Center

By SPENCER DAVIS

MANILA, July 3 (AP)—Australian infantry, braving rivers of flaming oil and barrages from Japanese 5-inch guns, advanced through face-searing heat today and seized part of the vital southeast Borneo petroleum port of Balikpapan.

Australian radio reports asserted they also had captured both Sepinggang and Manggar airfields, three and 10 miles northeast of Balikpapan, and the Australian commander declares the two-day-old invasion already was a "strategic" success.

Volcanoes of fire and dense black smoke from the blazing heart of the refinery area rolled over Aussie-held ridges that dominate both the town and the beach.

Standing atop the highest of these ridges, Lt. Gen. Sir Leslie J. Morsnead, Australian Corps Commander, declared that quick capture of this commanding ground had insured success of the campaign.

"In a strategic sense," he explained, "the campaign is won," although Japanese resistance inland was stiffening and the enemy's concealed artillery still was spattering ridges and beachhead.

Gen. MacArthur's communique today located the invading Australian Seventh Division — veterans of early New Guinea fighting and of the Syrian Deserts—nearly two miles inland and spread for three miles along the seashore.

MacArthur did not confirm capture of the airfields, but AP Correspondent Russell Brines earlier reported from the front that capture of Sepinggang, at least, was imminent.

The Melbourne radio said Air Force crews began immediately to repair the bomb-cratered air strips which presumably will provide close land-based air support for the advancing infantry.

Brines said the Aussies were within 1500 yards of the heart of Balikpapan.

Carrier planes meanwhile augmented continual Allied long-range bomber attacks against deeply entrenched Japanese positions, and guns of the U. S. Seventh Fleet joined field artillery in hammering steadily at enemy gun emplacements. Several Japanese five-inch guns concealed in hills several miles inland, which began shelling the beachhead area today, were believed destroyed.

East of the beachhead and about a mile inland, Japanese holding strong cave and tunnel positions were fighting bitterly. Similar caves were encountered occasionally inland from the main beachhead and were being reduced one by one in familiar, grim, Pacific-war fashion.

In their swift advance eastward toward the airfields, the Australians took one dominating hill with ease — and were surprised to find, virtually unmanned, elaborate fortifications on its crest. Field commanders termed it another example of the effectiveness of pre-invasion air and naval bombardments which drove Japanese defenders from the beaches.

Minefields and booby traps added to difficulties.

Chinese Wrest City From Japs

CHUNGKING, July 3 (AP)—The Chinese high command announced today that Chinese forces have captured Sinfeng in Kiangsi Province.

The announcement said the city, a link in the defenses guarding the Japanese Hongkong-Hankow corridor, had fallen after continuous assaults from the south.

At the same time the Chinese announced that their forces in Kwangsi Province to the west had entered encircled Liucheng.

Vets Can Buy Stocks of Tires

WASHINGTON, July 3 (AP)—OPA today authorized veterans opening small businesses to obtain limited stocks of new tires.

Effective Friday, veterans will be able to stock 10 passenger tires, four small and two large truck tires and six tractor tires. As these are sold the inventory may be replenished by submitting ration certificates to suppliers.

Red Army Troops Pull Out of Prague

PRAGUE, July 2 (delayed) (AP)—Russian occupation troops started moving out of Prague today and it was expected that virtually all would be gone by tomorrow except administrative officers and a guard at the airport.

The Russians are regrouping at the borders of Czechoslovakia, reducing the occupation area. The Czechs, meanwhile, are pressing an energetic mobilization program, obviously hoping to convince the occupying powers—American as well as Russian—that they can take care of any conceivable military emergency themselves.

(The Moscow radio said the west German cities of Schwerin, Halle, Leipzig, Weimar, Erfurt and Plauen were occupied by Russian troops Monday after the withdrawal of British and American troops from the Soviet occupation zone.)

Leaves, Vines Food for Japs

By Associated Press

Japanese were told today to tighten their belts and prepare to eat food made from mulberry leaves and potato vines as Allied bombers knocked out 28 more ships trying to run tightening Allied blockades.

Tokyo announced Japan's already meager basic food supply would be cut 10 per cent until the fall harvest. Nipponese scientists were reported pushing experiments to develo starches "to ease the critical food situation" from 19 different plants, including the mulberry leaf on which silkworms fed in prewar days.

Aussies Brave Borneo Oil Fire

By LEIF ERICKSON

GUAM, July 3 (AP)—Superfortresses struck at Japan's dwindling oil resources today for the third time in a week, blasting the Maruzen oil refinery with such precision returning airmen said "We won't have to go back there again."

Fifty precision-bombing B-29s hit the oil center 35 miles from Osaka before dawn today in a quick follow up of yesterday's record 600-plane fire raid on four cities, while other Allied air forces wrecked shipping and military installations from Nippon to Malaya. Two B-29s were lost in yesterday's 600-plane raid, but all but two crew members were rescued.

Black smoke which rose 10,000 feet above the important Maruzen oil plant could be seen for 30 miles in the night sky.

Anti-aircraft fire was light.

"Our bombs looked like they went into the target areas," said Lt. Chester C. Gibbens of Hayward, Cal., "somebody right behind us really hit pay dirt. I saw a double flash that lit up the sky for at least five seconds. You know, whoom!"

Twenty-first Bomber Command Headquarters announced, meanwhile, that 117 square miles of Japanese urban industrial area had been laid waste by B-29 strikes, not counting yesterday's record raid.

The refinery hit today at Shimotsu, 35 miles southwest of Osaka on Honshu island, was the third oil center struck within a week.

The raid was the eighth B-29 attack on the Japanese homeland in eight days, dovetailing with other aerial assaults on far-flung areas of the empire.

Navy planes, ranging from Japan to China, sank or damaged eight more enemy vessels as Marine Corsairs swung over the home island of Kyushu and knocked down eight Japanese fighter planes.

Adm. Nimitz disclosed that Fleet Air Wing 1 had destroyed 137,875 tons of Japanese shipping since it began operations in the Okinawa area, and damaged 138,000 tons, plus shooting down 37 enemy planes.

Chinese Pact With Russia 'Much Closer'

MOSCOW, July 3 (AP) — The Chinese and Russians were reported today to be "much closer" to a pact, the nature of which was not specified.

Soong planned to hold discussions with the Soviet foreign trade office today.

150 Flee Hotel Fire In Lowell

LOWELL, July 3—More than 150 guests fled through hallways and over fire escapes today when flames roared through the first floor of the Merrimac hotel, opposite Lowell depot, sending heavy smoke through all four floors of the building.

Two alarms were sounded before the blaze was brought under control in a two-hour battle. Damage was estimated at $40,000.

Nicholas DiFronzo, the night clerk, discovered the fire and risked his life to keep it from sweeping through the hotel after guests had called the desk and said they smelled smoke.

Investigating, DiFronzo found a cocktail lounge in the rear of the lobby a mass of flames. He called the fire department and then dashed through the flames to shut down a dozen windows, air from which was spreading the blaze.

Chief Charles F. Stackpole commended the clerk and said that elaborate furnishings and decorations might have sent the fire racing through the whole hotel had it not been for DiFronzo's quick action.

Many of the guests were carnival workers, here for tomorrow's Fourth of July celebration on Lowell Common.

Most of them were able to leave over stairways, although at least 25 persons, most of them women, fled down fire escapes.

Reading Suspect In Vt. Murder Flees Jail

Scheduled to go on trial July 16 on a charge of first degree murder in the shotgun slaying of a Vermont farmer and theb ludgeoning of the latter's 16-year-old daughter, Harold Frotten, 26, a native of Reading, escaped from the unguarded Bennington, Vt., County jail early thoday.

Opening the doors of his cell and the cell block in an as yet unexplained manner, the former carnival worker walked to freedom, leaving a note for Sheriff Clyde Peck that he was "tired of waiting" for his trial.

Frotten was being held on an indictment charging first degree murder in the death of Robert Stratton, 52, of Woodford, in the latter's home last Oct. 21. At the time, Frotten allegedly attacked Stratton's daughter, 18, and bludgeoned her with the shotgun after the father was killed.

The note left by Frotten for the sheriff read:

"I got tired waiting for that damn trial so went out for a little fresh air. So, don't bother leaving the door open because it will rust off waiting to hold me again."

Employed by a traveling carnival at the time of the slaying, Frotten had been in Bennington all summer and had resided at the Stratton home for two months after making the acquaintance of Harriet Stratton, another daughter.

An argument over his attentions to Harriet was said by police to have precipitated the quarrel which resulted in the fatal shooting of Stratton.

Frotten allegedly attacked the 16-year-old daughter, Georgia.

Champagne Trail

Brief Fling Lands 2 in Jail

One was a part-time cook for railroad crews and the other had been lugging ice of late, so there was very little money between them; but they both loved the finer things of life, such as the bouquet of expensive wines, and the luxury of a suite at one of the plushest hotels in town and the courteous service which is part and parcel of such living.

True, as they stood in the police lineup today, their trousers were a bit on the baggy side and it wasn't the fashionable bagginess of top price tweed. A night in a cell had sprouted whiskers for each. The cook was grinning nevertheless.

Lt. James V. Crowley drew from them the story of how they became "millionaires" for a few blissful hours.

The iceman had engaged the suite, then invited the cook to be his guest. Once ensconced, the iceman asked the cook what manner of beverage suited his mood. "Champagne," said the cook.

"Champagne it will be," said the iceman. "Four bottles of the finest graps," he told room service, "and see it is cooled to the right temperature. Charge it, by the way."

The four bottles duty arrived. The cook and the iceman had polished off three of them when a great glow of grandeur settled upon the iceman. He wrote out a check on Boston's biggest bank, summoned a lackey and told him to speed hence and cash it.

But the hotel credit manager, who had not been drinking champagne, telephoned the bank. The bank said it never had heard of the iceman. The hotel called the police.

Before the police arrived, an executive of the hotel knocked on the dor of the iceman's suite. He was welcomed hospitably. He saw the remaining bottle of champagne. He grabbed it. The police grabbed the two guests. They are due in court later.

Magicians Crash On Way to Hub

WORCESTER, July 3—Eight persons, members of a magician's troupe en route from Rochester, N. Y., for an engagement at a Boston theater, were injured today when their property van crashed into the rear of their sedan at a traffic intersection on the southwest cutoff.

Most seriously hurt was Robert C. Sirbaugh, 23, of Parsons, W. Va., a discharged veteran, who suffered a possible fracture of the skull. He was riding in the truck with Robert R. Claver, 26, of San Francisco, who suffered facial lacerations.

Cpl. Mickey Rooney Father of 7-Pound Boy

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 3 (AP)—Mickey Rooney, the movie actor who is now a corporal in the Army, became a father today.

His wife, the former Betty Jane Rase of Birmingham, gave birth to a seven pound, six ounce boy at a Birmingham hospital. Both mother and infant were reported "doing nicely."

Rooney, now stationed in Germany, and Miss Rase, the Miss Birmingham of 1944, were married here last September after a whirlwind week-long courtship. They met while the film player was stationed at Camp Siebert, Ala.

Rooney's mother, Mrs. Nell Rankey of Hollywood, arrived here Sunday. The child is unnamed.

Few Diners Get Salmon, Peas For 4th

Only a few will celebrate the Fourth by dining on salmon and peas. The salmon supply, including eastern and western salmon, is 15 per cent of the normal amount received in the good old days which was about half a million pounds for Greater Boston.

Crowds stormed the fish markets, to find only a limited supply of salmon in downtown and market district stores selling at the ceiling price of 66 cents cents per pound.

A few suburban markets were selling Western salmon at 55 cents, but the majority had none at all.

Meanwhile, a shipment was expected late this afternoon to Faneuil Hall from St. Johns, N. F., and dealers could only hope it would arrive on time.

For the first time this season, salmon from Canada is arriving here all cleaned, their heads off, thus saving express charges and allowing dealers here to put them on sale immediately on their arrival.

Peas, though not plentiful, were available at most mbarkets, as the native supply has been on sale for two weeks, and a large shipment of western peas arrived yesterday.

Many are substituting lobster and peas for the traditional meal. Although lobster was plentiful today, the price is prohibitive for many. Most stores were getting $4 per punds foor lobster meat, 95 cents perpound for live lobster and 95 cents each for small boiled lobster.

MRS. IMOGENE STEVENS
Waits Visit from Hubby

Hubby Flies Home to Aid Imogene

NEW CANAAN, Ct., July 3 (INS)—Sources close to the family of Maj. George R. Stevens, 3d, husband of a 24-year-old Texas beauty now awaiting trial in the slaying of a young submarine sailor, revealed today that the paratrooper already has returned home.

The soldier, who has been stationed in Germany, flew home yesterday, and immediately sought seclusion in the Fairfield Beach cottage of his parents.

He will remain there until tomorrow, when he is expected to be reunited with his wife, Mrs. Imogene Stevens, in the Bridgeport jail.

Maj. Stevens' flight home was arranged through the New Canaan chapter of the International Red Cross, so he could be at the side of his wife during her trial.

David Goldstein, defense counsel for Mrs. Stevens, the sultry, dark-tressed defendant, ordered all details of the paratrooper's "emergency furlough" kept secret.

From other sources, however, it was learned that the veteran European fighter who lived with his bride only nine days before going overseas, will talk with Goldstein before visiting the jail to see his wife.

Mrs. Stevens is held in lieu of $50,000 in the Fairfield County jail, charfed with manslaughter in connection with the June 23 death of Albert Kovacs, 19, of Norwalk, who was shot to death in the home of Charles Milton, aircraft executive.

The glamoros Mrs. Stevens told police she shot Kovacs, believing he was a burglar, fhile investigating "strange noises" at the home of her next-door neighbor while the Milton were away from home.

Saltonstall Aids Fight for Port

Sen. Saltonstall today joined those demanding passage of a Port of Boston appropriation of $15,000,000 instead of the proposed $5,000,000 as the state legislature prepared to take action on the measure.

Speaker Frederick B. Willis expressed confidence the House will appropriate $15,000,000 for the ort of Boston today. He added, however, that only $5,000,000 will be available immediately, with the balance subject to approval of the 1946 Legislature.

The former Governor, according to the Associated Press, sent telegrams from Washington to Speaker Frederick B. Willis and Senate Pres. Arthur W. Coolidge, declaring the measure is of "tremendous importance to the future of Boston and Massachusetts."

Saltonstall's messages came as representatives of business, industry, banking and labor pressed for action of the issue before the Fourth of July recess. Failure to act today will postpone decision at least until Monday when the legislature reconvenes.

"The issue is so important to the welfare of this whole region that it must not be allowed to get bogged down in procrastination, piffling appropriations or peanut politics," declared William K. Jackson, president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

Nicholas E. Peterson, vice-president of the First National Bank of Boston, asserted:

"We feel an acute crisis. The situation calls for action now. Time is of the essence. The welfare of labor and industry, as well as of all the people of Massachusetts, is at stake in the decision that will be made by the present Legislature."

Labor's voice was heard through Thomas E. Wilkinson, secretary-treasurer of the Massachusetts State Federation of Labor, who declared:

"If the Legislature accepts the recommendation of the committee on ways and means to reduce the appropriation for development of the port of Boston from $15,000,000 to $5,000,000, it will, in effect, be proclaiming to the rest of the nation that Massachusetts is resigned to its fate as a state where industrial and economic progress has become moribund."

The CIO also called for restoration of the $10,000,000 cut in a statement by its Massachusetts president, Joseph Salerno.

Ralph E. Flanders, chairman of the Massachusetts Committee for Port Development, sent telegrams to all the legislators warning:

"The change in the bill is public notice to shippers and shipping lines the world over that we are not serious and only toying with our problem. Traffic and cargo will go to the ports which are in earnest."

Meantime, support of the Bay State forces mounted in the other New England States, indicating widespread conviction that a prosperous port of Boston would mean a prosperous New England.

Canned Milk Spoilage Told

More than a million and half cans of evaporated milk has spoiled in storage and is now being offered to Massachusetts manufacturers for purposes other than human consumption by the War Food Administration's Office of Supply, 150 Broadway, New York, it became known today.

In a circular from the WFA, received by the manufacturers, it was stated that the milk, for sale through competitive bidding, would be avaialable without ration points in 14½-ounce cans—approximately one pound of milk per can.

The circular said the milk, which had been processed in 1942 and had been stored in warehouses in all parts of the country since that time, would be used for manufacturing only and that purchasers had to give assurance that no other use would be made of it.

Bids must be received before 5 p. m., July 11.

Famous Quebec Elevator Burns

QUEBEC, July 3 (AP)—One of the oldest installations of Quebec, the Dufferin Terrace elevator, was completely destroyed by fire in an eight-hour blaze.

The old European-style elevator, property of the Quebec Passenger & Elevator Co., had been the delight of tourists for 55 years. In summer months it carried 3000 to 4000 persons daily.

Enclosed in a wooden cage, the elevator ran from Dufferin Terrace, at the foot of the Chateau Frontenac, to the bottom of "Cap Diamant," 300 feet below. It was run by waterpower until electricity was installed.

2034 Veterans, 112 From N. E., Debark

The "Fighting Railroaders," members of the colorful 765th Railway Shop Battalion, were among units aboard the transport Santa Maria, which docked at Commonwealth Pier today to debark 2034 officers and men, 112 from New England.

Thirty-one of the New Englanders were veterans of the railway unit which operated in the Thionville area near Metz and worked with combat troops to maintain supply lines.

Among them was T-5 Peter Alexopoulos of Newton st., Somerville, who left Burdett College to enter the service 32 months ago, but continued his studies by correspondence.

Another railroader was Sgt. Raymond Kelleher of High st., Lowell, who enjoyed his stay in Europe, even when Nazi fliers strafed their trains. Usually, he said, the Nazis came out second best.

Also aboard the transport were twin brothers, T5 Ralph and PFC Fred Ciampa of McCormack sq., East Boston, who entered the service together 33 months ago and remained in the same unit throughout, including 11 months overseas with an ordnance maintenance company.

They took part in the capture of Metz, establishment of the Saarlautern bridgehead and the cleanup of the Ruhr pocket.

Also aboard were field artillery units and signal and quartermaster companies.

The railway battalion, after processing at Camp Myles Standish, will be given 30-day furloughs before reporting to Camp Robinson, Ark.

After training there, they are expected to be sent to the Pacific.

Greater Boston men returning on the Santa Maria include: S-Sgt. William A. Morash, 29 Commercial st., Marblehead; Sgt. Patrick J. Lydon, 866 E. Eighth st., South Boston; T4 John T. Smith, 9 Colchester st., Readville; T4 John B. Thomas, 91 Gardner st., West Roxbury.

T5 Peter Alexopoulos, 87 Newton st., Somerville; T5 John E. Catalosi, 49 Neponset ave., Hyde Park; T5 Walter J. Costello, 146 Spencer st., Dorchester; T5 George A. Getty, 42 Alpine st., Somerville; PFC Gardner L. Carney, Jr., 17 Empire st., Brighton.

PFC Alfred P. Leccese, 48 Oliver st., Somerville; PFC Thomas F. Madden, 81 Draper st., Dorchester; T5 Ralph A. Ciampa, 3 McCormack sq., East Boston; T5 John B. Johnson, Jr., 7 Avon st., Somerville; PFC Fred A. Ciampa, 3 McCormack sq., East Boston.

T5 Morton N. Cohen, 63 Centennial ave., Revere; T5 Joseph F. Dauenhauer, 42 Swan st., Malden; T5 Ernest W. Pearson, 23 Brookline st., Lynn; PFC Cornelius F. Curran, 28 Parrott st., Lynn; PFC James Knox, 172A Spring st., Cambridge; Pvt. James N. Bibber, 715 Saratoga st., East Boston.

S-Sgt. John M. Curran, 19 Gates st., South Boston; T5 Salvatbre Schillaci, 81 Magoun ave., Medford; Cpl. John Polcari, 29 School st., Everett; PFC Stanley W. Miller, 10 Wales st., Dorchester, and T3 Levon K. Boodakian, 11 Lochwan st., Winchester.

1946 Ford is Ready, And It's All-New Car

DETROIT, July 3 (INS)—Production of 1946 Ford automobiles, first cars to come off the assembly lines in 3½ years began today at the Ford Motor Co.

Soon after the first Ford rolled of the final assembly line at the Rouge plant, Henry Ford, 2d, executive vice president, announced plans for construction of four new assembly plants as part of a $150,000,000 postwar program.

Ford officials said the 1946 Ford is not a "stop-gap" model but the result of four years' research.

The new V-I engine develops 100 horsepower, compared with 90 for prewar fords. The engine contains new tri-alloy bearings, made of lead, silver, iron and copper. Ford technicians report their use on military vehicles show they last two and one-half times as long as prewar Cadmium bearings.

A new radiator pressure cap has been adopted, maintaining five pounds pressure inside the radiator. This reduces evaporation and preserves anti-freeze, Ford officials say.

Other engine changes include higher compression, addition of a sediment bulb to the fuel pump, an aluminum camshaft timing gear, oil bath air and oil cleaners as standard equipment, and a new oil pump.

Engine ventilation also has been added by circulating fresh air through the crankcase and the intake manifold. A new distributor virtually eliminates motor stoppage from condensation or water seepage, Ford engineers say.

Synthetis rubber is used throughout instead of natural rubber, except in the hydraulic brake cups. Ford plans to use synthetics for many uses even after natural rubber again becomes abundant.

The company does not know what the new cars will cost. OPA will fix the prices, which will be higher than 1942 prices.

16,700 Rubber Strikers Await Move by U. S.

By the Associated Press

The next move apparently was up to the government today in its effort to settle a strike of 16,700 rubber workers in Akron, O.

There was no indication that striking CIO-United Rubber Workers of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. would call off the strike despite WLB action in suspending their rights to shift premiums and vacations.

The board also directed 17,000 other workers of Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. to go back to their jobs. Only 1500 employes were left producing tires in the rubber capital.

C. V. Wheeler, local head of the Goodyear union, said:

"They've taken away our rights. We'll stay out until we get 'em back."

Later he advised the strikers to apply for unemployment compensation.

Apparent defiance also met the WLB's directive to striking deliverymen for the New York city newspapers to go back to their jobs or appear in Washington tomorrow at a show-cause hearnig. A spokesman for the Newspaper and Mail Deliverers' Union (unaffiliated) said the men "had no intention of going back to work under present arrangements."

Vice-Chairman William Mapel of the Publishers' Ass'n of New York, representing 11 major dailies, said the newspapers would be printed today. Fourteen daily newspapers and three racing papers were affected.

In New Jersey and Pennsylvania, an automobile parts industry strike at four plants kept idle 7900.

In Memphis, Tenn., management and union sought to end a five-day walkout of about 150 mechanics, which resulted in partial curtailment of Dixie Greyhound Lines bus service. In Waukesha, Wis., 1500 AFL machinists, out since June 27, ignored a WLB order to go back to work.

Churchill, Attlee In Final Drive

LONDON, July 3 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill and former Deputy Prime Minister Clement Attlee — leaders of Britain's strongest political parties—marshalled their followers today for a last-minute drive for the votes that will decide Thursday's national election.

Churchill, who heads the Conservative party, and Attlee, who leads the Laborites, planned to keynote their parties' semi-final round of oratory.

Both parties concentrated their closing fire on London, where a fifth of Britain's estimated 25,000,000 votes are bunched.

Charge Names of Dead Fill Nomination Papers

Reports that names of men who have died thin the past year and also those of clergymen and nuns were fradulently written onnmination papers of candidates seeking election as mayor in November stirred City Halbday.

A spokesman for one of the candidates stated that he is awaiting expiration of the time allowed the municipal election commission to certify nomination papers—5 p. m. on July 10—and immediately thereafter will examine the disputed documents with a view to taking legal action on the matter.

Hundreds of Boston residents are scheduled to be summonsed to City Hall to view signatures which friends of the candidates have stated under oath are legitimate and were signed in their presence, this man said.

It was reported in political circles that little effort was made to disguise handwriting on the nomination papers and that in some instances as many as 50 names appeared to be written by one person.

One candidate, it is reported, took oath before a notary that he witnessed the signing of papers whcih are under investigation.

Legitimate candidates have until July 17 to register protests with the Boston Ballot Law Commission.

WINS RIGHT TO SUE— Court permission has been granted Martha O'Driscoll, Hollywood film star, to divorce her husband, Com. Richard Adams, USN, who had blacked the trial under the soldiers and sailors act by refusing to give his consent. They are shown in a happier mood.

Sunny Skies Promised For Ideal N. E. Fourth

Ideal Fourth of July weather, with sunny skies, gentle west winds and a maximum temperature in the lower 80's was predicted by the weather bureau today as Greater Boston reveled in the clear air and comfort of a forerunner that saw holiday travel subsiding but little.

Cooler air masses from the Midwest are expected to give this area a near perfect day for the celebration of its 169th birthday. Despite the abaence of fire-crackers and other explosives, it appeared this would be the most enthusiastic and robust observance since before Pearl Harbor.

Tonight will be cooler than last night and probably clear, so that "night before" celebrations will draw large crowds. The mercury remained in the lower 70's throughout the forenoon.

The New Haven railroad reported vacationist travel about the same as last year, with the heaviest between New York and Boston and along the Cape. Trains carried fewer cars than in 1944 and many passengers had to stand in the aisles on through trains as well as locals.

The New England Transportation Co. experienced exceptionally heavy bus travel between Providence and the Cape, and Boston and Camp Edwards.

Officials of the New Haven and Boston & Maine were agreed that holiday travel would decrease tomorrow, but all Pullman space out of the North Station had been sold early this morning and it appeared certain there would be many standees in coaches pulling out for northern New England vacation spots throughout the day.

Boston is putting on one of its biggest shows, beginning with the bonfire at the Smith Playground in Brighton where Mayor Kerrigan and Councilor Maurice H. Sullivan will touch off a 60-foot pile of railroad ties at midnight.

In Stoneham a bonfire at the town recreation field will usher in a holiday celebration which will also be a tribute to S-Sgt. George J. Hall, Stoneham hero awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor, the nation's highest decoration for gallantry.

In Boston, the official observance will begin at 10 a. m. with flag raising exercises at City Hall, followed by a parade through downtown streets with detachments of soldiers, sailors, coast guards, marines, WACs, WAVES, SPARs and girl Marines; members of veteran organizations and civic groups in the line of march.

At 10:45 a. m. a traditional historic ceremony will be enacted at the old State House, where the Declaration of Independence will be read from the balcony by Edmund A. Blondin of Roslindale High School.

Abp. Richard J. Cushing will deliver the annual Independence Day oration at Faneuil Hall at 11:30 a. m. A colorful community festival at the Frog pond on Boston Common, from 8 to 10 p. m., will bring the city's official program to a close.

Last White Man Back Safe From Shangri-La

By RALPH MORTON

HOLLANDIA, New Guinea, July 1 (delayed) (AP)—The last white man came back from New Guinea's hidden valley of Shangri-La today, a towering figure with six weeks' beard and a flaming bird of paradise headdress.

He was Capt. Cecil Walters, leader of the expedition that parachuted into trackless jungles to rescue a WAC and two airmen companions who crashed seven weeks ago.

The great adventure ended as the glider carrying Walters and the last three of his 10 Filipino paratroopers rolled to a halt on Hollandia's air strip.

Walters was shown pictures of Grand Valley, discovered in 1938 by the Richard Archbold expedition, and was asked whether in his opinion it was Shangri-La.

"Grand Valley is certainly not the one were in," he declared. The American Museum of Natural History in New York, sponsor of the Archbold expedition, had expressed belief they were the same.

Unwed Newlyweds Puzzle Authorities

MIAMI, Fla., July 3—Legal action was being taken today to validate the marriage of a sailor and his "bride," who were wed by a notary public after the sailor had flown 2000 miles from a Pacific base to marry, but whose leave was not sufficient for him to obtain a license.

The sailor is David B. Levi of Ashville, N. C., and the bride-in-question is Rachel G. Pettit of Pauline, S. C.

With only a 48-hour leave and unable to obtain a waiver of the new Florida three-day law, Levi and his girl were wed by a notary public on the basis of an agreement, drawn by their attorney and signed by the couple.

The Dade County judge's office refused to record the marriage, on the ground that the state statute required that "persons solemnizing any marriage shall require of the parties a marriage license."

While the "bride" remained here to obtain the license to attach to the signed agreement, Levi returned to his base.

Atty. J. M. Flowers, counsel for the couple, asserts that the agreement signed by the couple validated the union and said he would file a circuit court petition to have the wedding ruled valid, if necessary.

Efforts are now being made to have Navy officials grant Levi another leave so that he may return for another ceremony to clear up all doubts as to the legality of the marriage.

AMNESIA VICTIM — This 20-year-old girl was found wandering in Columbia Elevated station today, unable to give her identity. A social security card gave the name of Anna Louise Shaw. She is being held at City Hospital.

IMPRISONED BY BED BARS—Victim of a strange bed accident, Joe Infield, 21, of Kansas City, examines bed bars which caused him considerable woe. In an unexplained manner, Joe wriggled his head through the bars while sleeping and couldn't free himself. Neighbors attempted to saw the bars but only succeeded in cutting his neck. Finally firemen forced them apart with crowbars and released the unhappy victim.

Lucky Captain

WASHINGTON, July 3 (AP)—Capt. Belson L. Price of North Falmouth, Mass., pinned his bars under the left pocket flap on his shirt—and saved his own life.

A slug from a Jap sniper's rifle in the battle of Cebu plowed into the bars, was deflected just a trifle and then passed through the officer's body, missing the heart by the skimpest of margins.

The story of the captain's narrow escape came today from the War Department as he recuperated from his wound at Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco.

Mother Indicted In Baby Burning

BALTIMORE, July 3 (AP)—A 21-year-old mother and her male friend were under indictment today on charges of burning with cigarets her 3-year-old son, who displayed more than 20 scars on his body last week in police court.

Indicted on assault charges and ordered held under $1000 bail were Mrs. Carla Scvhauermann, who is estranged from her railroad droftsman husband, and Carl B. Sadler, 26.

Little Walter James Schauermann, Jr., told police magistrate Michael J. Lucey June 28 that Sadler burned him with cigarettes and scalded him with hot water in the presence of Mrs. Schauermann. He also had what officers said was an improperly knitted fracture of the right arm.

Slaughtering Rules Eased by Anderson

WASHINGTON, July 3 (INS)—Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson disclosed today he is acting to relieve the meat shortage through a tough application of new laws listing slaughtering restrictions.

Anderson told reporters that slaughterers and local authorities operating under the broadened program must share the responsibility of keeping their meat out of the black market.

"They have some responsibility to see that the meat reaches legitimate markets at legal ceilings," he declared.

"Otherwise, I have the power to revoke their authorizations."

Anderson revealed that he conferred yesterday with OPA Administrator Chester Bowles and other OPA officials on the possible effect of some amendment to the Price Control Extension Bill.

Anderson conceded that some beef was being wasted because it couldn't be slaughtered under previous laws forbidding interstate shipments of non-federally inspected meat. Congress, however, has given Anderson the power to allow local slaughtering plants to kill animals on inspection satisfactory to the Agriculture Secretary.

"By opening up home slaughtering," Anderson said, "more meat would be furnished locally and thereby lessen the amount previously shipped in, which could go to shortage areas.

He indicated he may tie some restrictions to the slaughtering program in order, for example, to assure that extra meat produced would go to shortage areas.

"Every effort must be made to get co-operation locally," he added.

Japs Intern Shanghai Nazis

CHUNGKING, July 3 (AP) — Chinese press reports said today that Jap authorities had closed all 110 German firms in Shanghai and interned more than 1700 German nationals.

Another dispatch said a Jap plane, shot down in an air battle over Shanghai, crashed in a crowded district in the former French concession, causing an explosion and fires, killing 2000 persons.

A third report said the prohibitive prices of food, combined with fear of Allied air raids, had caused some 1,700,000 of Shanghai's 3,000,000 to 4,000,000 population to leave the city.

Shoe Mystery

BEAUMONT, Tex., July 3 (INS) — OPA officials were called in today to help clear the mystery of a wartime windfall —several hundred pairs of women's and girls' shoes abandoned in a vacant lot.

Many, of genuine leather, required ration stamps.

Neighborhood residents, however, were not disposed to ask questions. They took their pick and promptly disappeared.

Servicemen Can Drive Without a License

Servicemen on furlough do not need a special or temporary license to drive a car in Massachusetts, it was announced today by Registrar of Motor Vehicles Rudolph King.

A man in uniform, may drive on the last license he held, regardless of how many years ago it was issued. If his original certificate is lost, he may obtain a free duplicate by applying in person at the registry.

Argentinian Denies Threats

BUENOS AIRES, July 3 (AP)—The ministry of the interior expressed surprise today when informed Joseph Newman, correspondent of the New York Herald-Tribune, had taken up residence in the U. S. embassy on the grounds he had received a threatening telephone call.

Newman declared he received a call yesterday from a "Capt. Moretti," who said:

"News correspondence which you have been sending is causing serious disturbances in the country. We will herminate your activities."

Capt. Mario Jorge Moretti of the war ministry said he had made no such call.

Coast Guard Bars 7-Ft. Africa Boy

NEW ORLEANS, July 3 (AP)—A 17-year-old giant from Africa's Gold Coast wants "to go to sea," but the U. S. Coast Guard can't accept his application.

The boy, O. K. Odura, wrote from the Methodist School, Accra, West Africa:

"I am African boy attending school at Acera, the capital of the Gold Coast in West Africa. I wants to go to sea. I am 17 years old, 7 feet 4 inches tall. Please kindly reply me in time so I can see my position."

Coast Guard Lt. F. T. Carney replied, explaining it was necessary to be a United States citizen to join the Coast Guard.

"Too bad," muttered Lt. Carney. "Seven feet four inches tall! He would have been such a big help!"

Vet Freed in Killing Of Unfaithful Wife

NOTTINGHAM, England, July 3 (AP)—A British soldier accused of strangling his wife when he returned from overseas and found her bearing another man's baby was acquitted of a murder charge.

"The provocation was such that an ordinary, frail man might have done what he did," the court said in discharging 24-year-old Reginald Keymer.

Now all eyes are on the Route to Tokyo

Part of the war is over.

Now all the emphasis of war lies along the Route to Tokyo.

There are still boys in bomb bays we all want to see back at their jobs.

There are still young fellows steering tanks and landing craft who ought to be back steering family cars.

There are still fellows hunting Japs in jungles who ought to be hunting rabbits on the "south forty."

These men can't get back until they get the stuff to fight with—and plenty of it.

That's where Santa Fe comes in.

Like the branches of a river flowing into the main stream, guns, tanks, food, plane parts and other material of war are flowing along the "Route to Tokyo" on Santa Fe rails.

Movement of these vital war supplies is facilitated by—

Greatly increased yards*—More than doubled at many points. More trains of war can get in and out in less time.

50 per cent more trains on the same tracks are now made possible by centralized traffic control at key points, which avoids trains being held on sidings.

More power*—in the form of giant 5400

horsepower freight Diesels. Santa Fe now has 71 of them—and more are coming!

New bridge speeds war traffic. The new Topock bridge over the Colorado River is speeding up movements of freight and troops to California's Ports of War.

When Victory is won and the boys come home, these facilities will help provide better passenger service than ever, and will haul more peacetime freight even more efficiently than before.

Vet Hero of Bataan May Fool Doctors

FT. WORTH, Tex., July 3—Doctors say he cannot live, but Cpl. James E. Newman, who survived the infamous march of death and three years in a Jap prison camp, smiled happily today—he was back home in Texas with his beloved mother and dad.

The weary soldier, who is suffering from the ravages of tuberculosis, laryngitis, malnutrition and beri-beri, was flown home by the Red Cross from a San Francisco hospital. He weighs but 98 pounds despite his six-foot, two-inch frame.

"Since doctors said he has no chance to live, we wanted him to come home," declared Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Newman, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

Newman had tough luck from the beginning. He boarded a ship on Dec. 7, 1941 to return home from the Philippines. His three-year hitch in the Army was over. But all the world knows what happened then.

He was not liberated until the Yanks dashed into Cabanatuan prison camp three years later. From there he was taken to New Guinea, where doctors said he couldn't recover and it would be nice if he could be gotten home to die.

Last March, he was brought back to the United States and ended up in Bruns General Hospital, San Francisco.

There, his mother visited him and found he wasn't ready to give up. "Pull yourself together mother," he said, "I'm going to be all right."

But doctors gave out the same report—he couldn't live.

When an ambulance rolled up to the family door, Newman raised himself on his stretcher, cocked his hat jauntily over one eye and grinned for the cameraman. How can you lick a guy like that—doctors have been known to be wrong.

Murder Photos Win Tip Prize

Top prize of $5 in the weekly news tip contest conducted by the Record-American and Sunday Advertiser goes to the wideawake citizen who realized the value of photographs in the Turkish bath murder of Foxboro's school superintendent and rushed them into this office for publication.

There were five prizes of $3 each distributed, one to the tipster who flashed word of a Navy plane crashing off Squantum, one for a tip on a Roxbury holdup, another for a Chelsea milk company holdup, a fourth for tipping on a woman killed when a taxicab was struck by a train at Pawtucket, and the fifth for a tip on two boys nearly drowning at Winthrop while attempting to save a dog.

Also there were four awards of $2 each to alert tipsters during the week, and 22 of $1, making a total of $50 in the weekly prize pool, recently doubled from $25.

These awards serve to illustrate that a quick ear and quick eye, combined with a ready hand for the telephone, have an excellent chance of winning a reward. Likely to be rated high are human interest stories that these papers would not run across otherwise.

To cash in a share of the weekly prizes, alert readers need only to call LIBerty 4000 and ask for the Tip Editor. If your tip is good—and first—then you're in the money.

Girl Slams Saddle Maker Plunk on Courtroom Floor

LOS ANGELES, July 3 (AP)—A lithe, 16-year-old girl applied a jiujitsu hold on a 180-pound saddle maker, tossed him into the air and slammed him—kerplank!—right in the middle of Judge Frank Carrell's courtroom floor.

The girl, Margrete Taricco, had the husky Douglas McLean, 29, arrested on assault charges. She claimed that while taking her home on his motorcycle a week ago, he attempted to force his attentions upon her.

On that occasion, she said she threw McLean with a similar hold, then fled.

McLean pooh-poohed her claim, telling officers: "If a slip of a girl like that can throw me, I'll plead guilty."

Yesterday Judge Carrell ordered the girl to demonstrate.

"That's just how I did it last week, Your Honor," she told the court as McLean sheepishly picked himself up off the courtroom floor.

McLean didn't plead guilty, and the judge took the matter under advisement.

Jap Ship Mast Rips Open Navy Plane, All Are Saved

By ROBERT GEIGER

OKINAWA, July 2 (Delayed) (AP)—A Navy privateer came home today from a bombing raid in the Yellow sea, dangling a three-foot piece of the mast from a Jap ship with a tattered remnant of the Rising Sun flag.

Most of the planes' belly was ripped out when the privateeer hit t he mast during a strafing run. But Lt. G. E. Miller brought his crippled ship with her 11-man crew and two passengers saafely back in a perilous 500-mile flight.

The crew clung to the sides of the "inverted bath tub" to keep from falling into the Pacific ocean, but all were unscathed. The passengers were injured, but both are expected to recover.

"I heard a tearing noise," said Lt. Miller, "and we slid down to within five feet of the water before the plane finally pulled up."

A co-pilot crawled forward into the nose where a marine photographer and another injured passenger were hanging on. The marine, whose right arm was almost torn off was about to faint and fall out of the hole. Both were pulled safely to the flight deck.

All the controls on one side of the ship were knocked away or dangling, but Lt. Miller landed the plane with a 300-yard belly slide.

Philippine Japs Face Extinction

MANILA, July 3 (AP)—Scattered little remnants of a Japanese Philippine garrison, once half a million strong, found themselves isolated and trapped today by relentless American and guerrilla thrusts.

The tiny village of Waloe, in the wild Agusan river valley of eastern Mindanao, already is circled by a tightening ring of American and Filipino troops, AP Correspondent Richard Bergholz reported.

On Luzon, lines tightened around enemy remnants in the Cordillera mountains northwest of the summer capital of Baguio.

Fin. Com. Fears Top Tax Rate

With the highest tax rate of any large city in the nation, Boston had to "alarmingly" increase property valuations to even hold its tax for 1945 to $42.50, according to a critical report by the Boston Finance Commission.

The commission declared that a $4,244,382 increase in city maintenance requirements had eliminated all gains toward reduced cost of running the city made since early depression days and that the total represents a new all-time high level.

An increase in school maintenance cost was termed "no less alarming." Pointing out that average school attendance continues on the downward trend and is more than 30 per cent less than five years ago, the Commission stated that no savings recommended by the Strayer School Survey were reflected in the 1945 requirement figures.

The Commission also found, as did the Municipal Research Bureau last week, that an overlay deficit provision in this year's rate computation should have been $600,000 higher, which would have meant an additional 45-cent increase in the tax rate, adding "but to keep the rate down to $42.50, it was necessary to ignore the true picture."

Beauty — Cake Make-Up That's Long Lasting — Fashion

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

WE'RE GETTING a little tired of talking about bare fashions . . . but they DO hold the spotlight for summer . . . and if you're not in that spotlight you might as well consider yourself part of the total eclipse. You just naturally won't stand a chance in the promenade of lovelies unless you, too, let Old Sol feast on as much of you as you deem advisable.

Clothes for daytime and evening . . . for country and for city wear are cut for all-out exposure of bare arms, shoulders, back, midriff and legs. And, while in your mind you balk at such anatomical display . . . eventually you'll find yourself embracing Dame Fashion's facetious decree and go forth in similar sally. And you'll find you'll be happy it's the vogue . . . especially when the broiling sun reduces you to a grease spot.

And, just as naturally . . . it won't be natural to blaze forth au naturelle . . . without some coating of tan camouflage or sun-kissed coverage. Particularly good in summertime is a cake make-up . . . which strangely keeps the face and all exposed parts from beading bubbles at the sun's slightest whim and fancy of torrid temperatures. And the one we suggest is an all-round help . . . like the silent butler in your living-room . . . ready to do service without effort and prompting.

For it is great for the throat and face when blended all over the expanse . . . and into the hair-line as well for the utter sleekness so fashionable when wearing your hair combed back in one of the new off-the-face styles. It is boon to those whose bathing suit lines don't exactly match the cut of another frock . . . and can be utilized in a darker shade to these lighter places for matching evenness . . . especially true of the midriff which may not tan easily.

Bare legs are almost universal this year wherever you go. Again a bronzy tan share of this traditionally fine cake makeup can give your legs rapidly that well-groomed appearance . . . since the product is famous for its long-lasting quality. It is non-drying to the skin . . . does not crack . . . and does not shine through powder. You'll love the smooth texture so truly flattering that it imparts to your complexion. For pretty all-over bareness . . . this cake make-up is a cosmetic jack-of-all-beauty aid.

For the name of this all-purpose, famous for long - lasting quality cake make-up in many shades, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope.

BARE FASHIONS call for smooth, well-groomed make-up on all exposed areas . . . so don't be a hit-or-miss gal with your chic appearance . . . go all out for an all-over fastidious fascination that will leave your spectators breathless with envy and praise. And do as the topflight models do . . . use a traditionally famous cake make-up for all necessary purposes on exposed areas.

SKILLFULLY translating the beauty of classical Grecian line into modern idiom . . . here is a Tina Leser creation sun dress with which CBS actress Phyllis Creore adds drama to her summer wardrobe. Making decorative capital of the ancient custom of leaving the right arm free in hunting attire . . . this woven stripe chambray drapes diagonally across the back of the plain blue bodice . . . and over the left shoulder to cover the single shoulder strap. —R. My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, Tuesday, July 3—Last week I went to the office of the American Federation for the Blind to receive the resolution which their board had passed and which Miss Helen Keller wanted to present to me personally. It was a resolution commemorating my husband's services as honorary chairman. As I stood and listened to Miss Keller speak I thought how wonderfully both Miss Keller and my husband typified the triumph over physical handicap.

Many of you may not know that Miss Keller, with her faithful friend and interpreter, has visited a number of our service hospitals. Some people felt that she might discourage our wounded men. Instead of that, the men recognized the greatness of her personality and the serene and courageous spirit which has made of her life a rich and full existence. She carried comfort to the men who were facing their own handicaps and trying to find the courage to build normal lives in spite of them.

* * *

I ALWAYS FOUND in hospitals that the knowledge among the men that my husband, who was their Commander-in-Chief and the President of the United States, nevertheless could not walk, gave to every handicapped man a sense of greater determination in his own fight back to useful activity.

The presentation was a moving little ceremony and I was grateful to the board and to Miss Keller, for, in spite of the fact that my husband had little time to give to many of his interests, it still gave him a great satisfaction to be associated with their work.

* * *

I ALSO HAD A TALK last week with Mrs. Lafell Dickinson, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and Judge Anna M. Kross, chairman of the federation's newly-formed Youth Conservation Committee for the study and mobilization of the forces dealing with children in the various communities of our country. In the autumn they will hold institutes, in various sections of the country, where people active both in government and in private organizations for the development of opportunities for children will come together and discuss how these can be improved.

Stuffed Tomatoes Grand Treat on Summer Menus

By MARTHA LEE

AS TOMATOES begin to appear in our markets in greater numbers, we begin to think of the many, many types of dishes which can be prepared with this versatile food. Many people prefer to eat them in their fresh or raw state and at the beginning of the season it seems a logical thing to do.

Stuffed tomatoes never fail to entice. A combination of diced cucumber, shredded lettuce and wedgelike slices of ripe olives makes a grand dinner salad, served in scarlet tomato cases. If you are anxious to step up your vitamin A intake, substitute raw shredded carrots for cucumbers. Incidentally, ripe olives are a surprisingly good source of vitamin A to augment your daily needs.

TOMATOES STUFFED WITH CHEESE

8 medium tomatoes
1 lb. American cheese, finely grated
Salad greens
5 chopped, shelled, hard-cooked eggs
French dressing
6 chopped sweet pickles
3 chopped canned pimientos
12 chopped stuffed olives
12 chopped pecans
3 tbsp. mayonnaise

Wash, core, skin, and scoop out the tomatoes. Sprinkle the insides with salt and pepper; then invert on a plate, and chill. Meanwhile, combine all remaining ingredients, except lettuce and French dresisng, and use to fill the tomatoes. Serve on lettuce, with French dressing. Serves about eight.

TOMATOES STUFFED WITH BREAD CRUMBS

6 firm, ripe tomatoes
Salt and pepper
Soft bread crumbs
1 tsp. minced onion, sauted
½ cup dry bread crumbs, buttered

Wash tomatoes, remove stem ends, and scoop out center pulp, leaving a shell ¼-inch thick; sprinkle with salt. Chop pulp and mix with an equal amount of soft bread crumbs; add sauted onions and season to taste. Fill tomatoes with stuffing and place in greased baking dish; sprinkle with buttered crumbs and bake in moderately hot oven (375 deg. F.) for 20 minutes. Serve with cheese sauce, or melted butter. Makes six servings.

TOMATO SLAW

3 cups shredded raw green cabbage
1½ cups diced peeled tomatoes
6 tbsp. diced seeded green pepper
6 tbsp. diced, pared cucumber
⅔ cup French dressing

Arrange the chilled cabbage, tomatoes, green pepper, cucumber and French dressing in alternate layers in a salad bowl. Chill thoroughly, toss and serve. Makes 6 servings.

SALAD BOWL

1 head lettuce
½ bunch watercress
2 tomatoes, cut in sections.
2 stalks celery, cut in sticks
6 radishes, sliced
3 green onions, chopped
½ green pepper, sliced
⅓ cup salad dressing or French dressing

Break lettuce in bowl; tear watercress in 1-inch pieces. Arrange tomato sections, celery sticks, radishes, onions, and green pepper over top of greens. Pour over dressing and toss lightly. Serve immediately. Makes 6 servings.

TOMATO-CHEESE-BALL SALAD

1 3-oz. pkg. cream cheese
2 tbsp. chopped green pepper
¼ tbsp. toasted salted almonds, chopped
¼ tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. paprika
2 tsp. lemon juice
¼ tbsp. whipped cream
¼ tomatoes

Cream cheese; add green pepper, almonds, seasonings, lemon juice, and whipped cream. Mold in balls and chill in refrigerator. Place 3 balls on thick tomato slices and serve on lettuce with French dressing. Makes 8 servings.

Unusual Charm in Fall Suits

By BETTINA BEDWELL

SUITS, IT SEEMS, are like the brook that "goes on forever." They are as important in the first fall styles I have been seeing as they have been for some time. Suits for the campus, for the town, the country and all the rest are big items in the coming fashions.

In this group flannel suits look like stars, and this is likely to please a lot of you. There isn't a more practical suit than the flannel suit. Done mostly in light neutral colors like gray, and soft pastels, these flannel suits are flattering, young and useful.

The Zoe de Salle model sketched is one that has all the good points. Made of a soft, misty blue flannel, the jacket has soft, wide shoulders, a slim fitted waistline and deep armholes. The skirt is gently flared, and there is a stunning yellow jersey blouse with a drawstring neckline and dolman sleeves.

Guests at Dinner

By BETTY ALDEN

CELEBRATING THEIR ENGAGEMENT with a dinner party at the Copley Plaza, were Barbara Jenney and her fiance, Bob Menor, USNR. Barbara wore a black and pink peplum print with white eucharis lilies and stephanotis, while her pretty sister, post-deb Patricia, escorted by Army Lt. Robert Cleverdon of Newton Centre, was most attractive in a peach crepe with a center panel of contrasting blue to which was pinned a corsage of gardenias.

Patricia Jenney

Also included in this gay group was post-deb Ruth Ferguson of Canton who came with Jim Tourtellotte, USNR, the former wearing a harlequin linen dress with a single gardenia, while Barbara's close friend, post-deb Joan Kuebler, accompanied by Lt. James Nielsen, USAAF, wore a stunning navy linen with fitted bodice accented by bands of white braid.

Post-deb Hope Faxon who arrived with a lieutenant commander, was lovely in a multi-colored sea-horse print on gray background.

One of the most outstanding creations of the evening was the pistachio crepe with a wide margin of black horses and knights printed on the skirt worn by Mrs. Benjamin Prouty (Jean Fuller) while dancing with her husband.

In from Newton Centre, after saying good-by to their two sons who are off to summer camp, were Mr. and Mrs. T. Mitchel Hastings 3d, the latter wearing a purple orchid pinned to her kelly and fuchsia striped satin shortie.

Q—I would like to know if a boy 16 years of age is eligible to join the Navy if he has his parents' permission? T. K., Cambridge.

A—No, the minimum age is 17 and must also have parents' approval.

Q—I joined the Marine Corps in 1933 at New Orleans, which was my home city. A year later was transferred to Charlestown Navy Yard and have been here since. In 1941 I married a Somerville girl and have resided in that city since. Recently was honorably discharged. Would like to know if I am considered a resident of this state and also eligible for the bonus which is expected to be adopted by present Legislature. How about Louisians, have they any bonus plans? C. M., Somerville.

A—Not entitled to a bonus from this state. Must have enlisted from Massachusetts or enlistment credited to the state at time. I don't know what the plans are of your former home state. However, we welcome you here to Massachusetts.

(Note to R. D., Dorchester, was unable to find any information regarding person interested in. Suggest you write letter addressed to chaplain of last known address of friend or chief of police in community where his family lived.)

Q—Was a peacetime soldier and was discharged after one hitch in 1939. Understand I am eligible to apply for the new discharge buttons providing separation from service was honorable? L. D., Portland.

A—Sorry, the present lapel buttons are only for those who served since Sept. 16, 1940, and for a period of 90 days or more.

Q—Will the honorably discharged soldier of World War II receive any more money from the government than the $300 mustering out pay? T. C., Melrose.

A—The maximum amount of mustering out pay at the present time is the $300. If the soldier is discharged with a disability incurred in line of duty he may be eligible for a pension.

There is no actual bonus in Massachusetts state bonus as yet, although there has been considerable discussion on the subject.

Q—My brother was married just two weeks before he went overseas and now he has been killed. My mother has received a form to file for six months gratuity pay, but there is a slip attached which says not to complete it if the soldier left a widow. Is she entitled to this benefit when they were married such a short time? R. C. T., Boston.

A—The six months' gratuity pay goes to the lawful widow of a soldier regardless of the length of their marriage or any previous designation of beneficiary the soldier may have made.

Vote for $15,000,000 Is Vote for Prosperity

REPRESENTATIVES of labor, business and industry—in truth, spokesmen for practically all Massachusetts groups, have implored the House of Representatives to vote in favor of the FULL FIFTEEN-MILLION-DOLLAR Port of Boston appropriation

Here are typical statements:

RALPH E. FLANDERS, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston: "Every other port on the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts—ours alone excepted—is preparing itself for postwar shipping. Georgia did not hesitate to pass a $15,000,000 bill while we were talking about ours. Every port will be ready EXCEPT BOSTON."

JOSEPH SALERNO, president of the State C. I. O.: "The time for action is NOW. The full appropriation is needed. We call for $15,000,000."

ANDREW F. LANE, general manager of the present Port Authority: "The psychological effect of the slash from $15,000,000 to $5,000,000 will be most damaging. To the prospective users of the port, it creates the impression that they will not be able to negotiate contracts for Boston Port facilities on a business-like basis, but may be compelled to wait many months before the port authorities can tell them whether or not the Legislature will give the necessary approval."

DON J. DEL MONTE, president of the Boston Central Labor Union, A. F. of L.: "Labor is pretty much disturbed over the effort of the Ways and Means Committee to have the port appropriation reduced . . . The plan for a $15,000,000 appropriation was drawn by very intelligent men who knew what they were doing."

DANIEL TYLER, JR., president of the Massachusetts Selectmen's Association: "More than 200 of the 312 towns in Massachusetts have written to me, urging approval of the FULL APPROPRIATION. Those 200 towns represent more than a MILLION PERSONS. Take the little town of Peru. Its population is 125. It is approximately 150 miles from Boston. YET IT APPROVES THE FULL $15,000,000 APPROPRIATION, BECAUSE SOME OF ITS RESIDENTS WORK AT NEARBY PITTSFIELD WHICH SHIPS MANY OF ITS PRODUCTS ABROAD."

JOSEPH B. SPANG, JR., president of the Gillette Safety Razor Co.: "Any start toward a modern renaissance in Boston is apparently done for if the proposed slash in the appropriation for the Port of Boston is carried through."

THE GENERAL feeling is that the Ways and Means Committee made a serious mistake when it reduced the conservative $15,000,000 appropriation to an inadequate $5,000,000.

Representatives and Senators should not repeat that mistake, and we do not think they will.

Like the well-known men whose remarks we have quoted, most members of the Legislature are sincerely concerned with the welfare of the State and all its people.

They do not want another period of stagnation, with widespread unemployment, breadlines and doles.

They do not want closed factories and empty mills. They do not want higher and more burdensome taxes on farms, homes and industrial property.

FOR THESE REASONS, the House of Representatives should act quickly and restore the FULL FIFTEEN-MILLION-DOLLAR APPROPRIATION.

New York will spend more than $100,000,000 for its port.

Baltimore is being improved with a $50,000,000 fund.

Pennsylvania has raised more than $30,000,000 for Philadelphia.

SURELY WE IN MASSACHUSETTS CAN AFFORD TO SET ASIDE THE RELATIVELY SMALL SUM OF $15,000,000 TO KEEP OUR PRINCIPAL PORT OPEN AND OUR PEOPLE WORKING.

A MAN of science is strongly opposed to my objection to that Maine scientist, and other scientists, using dogs for experimental purposes. He says: "Experiments with animals in studying the course of disease has saved thousands of human lives." I say that down through the ages man has made a friend of the dog. This friendship has inspired trust in the man on the part of the dog. Man has benefited greatly by this friendship For man to take this trusting animal friend and inflict upon him pain, disease and a variety of tortues cannot be justified. It is not only unfair to the dog but it brutalizes the man. I am against it!

Remember when Bebe was Harold Lloyd's leading lady in two-reel comedies. I do. I also remember her singing a song called, "You're Becoming a Habit with Me." However, that was a talking picture about 10 years ago. Bebe is still a smart looker. In fact, in some ways she is better looking than ever.

FIRST WORDS: When your soldier came home from the battle-front, what were his first words? I was interested in the first words of Pvt. Ed Schubert of Buffalo, N. Y. He was welcomed by his wife and 2-year-old baby. He was seeing the baby for the first time. Pvt. Schubert took one look at the baby and exclaimed in great surprise: "Holy smoke, she walks!"

★ ★ ★

HORSES AND WOMEN: Now a character analyst says you can judge a woman's character by her hair-do. If she goes for the clipped hair style, for example, it indicates she is lacking sentiment. Her capacity for self-sacrificing love is limited. She thinks with her head instead of the heart. If a woman favors what is known as "a long bob," it indicates she is romantic and good matrimonial material for a young man looking for a wife who prefers a home and kiddies to a career. When a woman affects the hair-do style that calls for a net or snood, that means she is sophisticated. If she never changes her hair-do her mind is in a rut. If she changes it continually that proves she has an active mind and craves variety. It also indicates that she might be inclined to change husbands without much provocation. Our Horses and Women Department is checking on these claims.

★ ★ ★

SERIOUS SITUATION: Now I have a letter from a newspaperwoman who frankly confesses she would like to have a husband but can't get one. This makes the husband shortage seem even more desperate than that confession by a Brooklyn brown-eyed honey blonde that she couldn't get a husband. I had no idea the situation was so serious. In all my experience in the journalistic world I have never known a newspaperwoman who couldn't get a husband In fact, around nearly every newspaper shop I worked there were always at least three newspaperwomen who were trying to get rid of husbands.

★ ★ ★

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—How many times was Norman Selby (Kid McCoy) married? A—Nine times. But on three occasions he married the same woman . . . Q—What is the lucky day for Sagittarians? A—The star gazers say it is Thursday . . . Q—What is meant by calling a man "a crawfish?" A—All I know is that a crawfish travels backward faster than it does forward.

★ ★ ★

MARRIAGE: After being divorced by his first wife, a man in California married again. After six months he divorced his second wife and married his first wife again. After six years his first wife divorced him again. Then he married his second wife again. In two years his second wife divorced him. And so what. Why he married his first wife again. In a year his first wife divorced him again for the third time. However, he didn't marry his second wife a third time. I am glad of that because writing about this man's matimonial experiences has made me too dizzy already.

★ ★ ★

GET IT RIGHT: "When a 16-year-old chorus girl, Ruby Nelson, decided to change her name she combined two names she saw on billboards and became Barbara Stanwyck." So states a drama scribe. That's not right. When Willard Mack engaged Ruby Nelson to appear in the play "The Noose" he said he didn't like her name. So he changed it to Barbara Stanwyck. At that time Ruby was 20 years of age.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc

NEW YORK, July 3—The very hour that the Federal Industrial Relations Bill was introduced in the Senate, a measure to rescue American labor and the rest of the nation from the power of union bosses, these same bosses set up a howl of protest.

Westbrook Pegler

They want to be "heard" and "consulted" and reasonable, but mistaken, liberals instinctively agree that they should be.

BUT WHY SHOULD THEY BE HEARD?

The country has been hearing from them and taking orders and abuse from them for 12 years on the pretense that they represent and speak for labor.

Recently, however, John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, who led the CIO during its most violent days, admitted that there is no labor movement in the United States, and he is right.

The men who were given every opportunity to create a labor movement and give it conscientious leadership have failed wretchedly, and not always through incompetence, but more often through ambition for personal power and prestige, through political scheming, dishonesty and jealousy.

Lewis, himself, is a historic failure and is largely responsible for many present dangers in the land.

★ ★ ★

THERE ARE a few men in the union movement who might rise to the chance for patriotic service in clearing up the sordid mess that others have made of labor's affairs if they could clean their own minds of old superstitions of the unioneering trade and their vocabularies of outworn terms.

This, however, requires a degree of intellectual honesty and courage that few of them have shown to date.

The "right to strike" is one of the most precious and most dangerous bromides in the present controversy. Good leadership would exert itself to avoid strikes except as a last resort.

Yet these people would maintain the right of an arrogant and whimsical boss such as Dave Beck, of the Teamsters' Union, to order his men off the job and paralyze an entire section of the country.

They would insist on their right, not labor's right, to silence the press of the whole State of Florida and tie up the postwar housing and rehabilitation program, because they, who go there only to drink and gamble in season, are offended by a constitutional amendment adopted by popular vote, which forbids the closed shop

They would permit no interference with the power of a group to "strike" a plant in which it had no members whatever and shut off its materials and close it down as a means of forcing unwilling workers in the plant to join the union

THE TERM "STRIKE" has lost its original honest meaning during years of abuse.

The "strike" has now become a revolutionary device which can be used and soon will be used unless preventive laws are adopted, not to advance any aim of the workers themselves but to provoke violence through anxiety, want, hunger cold and resentment.

The jurisdictional "strike" which ties up the reconversion of automobile factories where thousands of idle workers could be put back on the payrolls, is purely a wrangle between rival groups of union bosses, each greedy for power and money.

Nobody possibly can gain except the bosses who ultimately win the contest and the situation is only another routine example of the incompetence of those who got commanding positions over labor, industry and the very nation itself.

It is time to examine the quality of this "leadership" and observe what it is made of

It consists largely of personal publicity, trickery and the patronage of the Roosevelt government which made proteges of these people and protected their outrageous powers in return for campaign contributions and organized support

HOLLYWOOD, July 3—Demure Dorothy McGuire, with her little girl ways and scorn of all movie makeup, returns to Hollywood from overseas this month. She is being brought back by her boss, David Selznick, for the top role in "Some Must Watch," a Dore Schary mystery yarn. She plays a deaf mute up to the last scenes. While it's pretty early to talk about Academy Awards, there is a strong feeling she is the favorite for the Academy Award because of "The Enchanted Cottage" and "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn."

Dorothy McGuire

In the same picture with Dorothy, in one of the important roles, is Ethel Barrymore, who is not doing "Miss Hargraves" for RKO because it was decided to postpone it indefinitely. Reason: Too expensive a production for a fantasy of that type.

THE DEAD END KIDS are now passe or, let's face it, all grown up and in the Army. So Hollywood high school youngsters are about to replace the East Side hellions. Eight boys from Hollywood High, to be known as the Hollywood High Kids, will be seen in a series of Monogram pictures produced by Sam Katzman and Maurice Duke.

LT. WILL ROGERS, whose sympathies with Russia were often expressed when he was in Hollywood, is in Moscow now as an attache of Ed Pauley of Beverly Hills. Pauley is representative on the Allied Reparations Commission and what Rogers' mission is I don't know, other than he is probably studying the Russian situation.

CHARLES MURRAY, JR., 28-year-old son of the late screen funnyman, operates a steak house in Long Beach when he can get steaks. When he can't, he comes to Hollywood and works in the movies. Well, the steaks must be thinning out because Charlie, Jr., is back with us again for a very good role in "Whistle Stop," with George Raft and Ava Gardner. Murray has no ambition to be a leading man or a hero. "My father did all right as a character actor—and that's for me."

IF JANIS PAIGE is well in three weeks, she will report at Warners to co-star with Zachary Scott in "Dancing With Tears." Janis can feel very happy. So many people wanted to help her. I have never seen such an avalanche of telegrams and telephone calls to Warners and to my office, offering blood for the transfusion she needed. Many people who made the offer later went to the Red Cross bank and made their contribution there.

ALAN CURTIS has been escorting Betty Hansel here and there; Martha Kemp Mature went to Oklahoma to say au revoir to Spencer Martin before he ships overseas; Cornelius Vanderbilt and Amanda Bane, vocalist with Ted Strater's band, are certainly seeing San Francisco together; Lillian Roth, former musical comedy actress and night club entertainer, and her husband, Edward Goldman, have said adieu to marriage; Harold Steinman, New York producer, and Caryl Gould, singer, are honeymooning in New York; Geraldine Fitzgerald still hasn't cleared her papers to Ireland and she's in New York waiting; Peggy Diggins, former Warner Brothers actress, has started divorce proceedings against the officer she married while overseas; Dorothy Lamour has written her first fan letter. She has asked Gen. Eisenhower for an autographed photograph.

WASHINGTON, July 3—The Foreign Economic Administration has issued a new directive that no member of the agency can talk to the press unless an FEA public relations officer is present.

What's the matter? Can't they remember a few simple little distortions to tell without being prompted?

THIS IS JUST about the darndest manifestation of news muzzling and muddying in quite a spell. Let's mull it over for a minute.

Men are appointed to positions of high responsibility in the FEA. They are tacitly presumed to be men of stature. Anyway, they are entrusted with the task of scattering billions of dollars of your money and of formulating and executing policies which may effect American lives and destinies—and those of countless millions all over the world—for decades to come.

But they are not considered smart enough to tell the people—through the press—what they are attempting to achieve, without a press agent to stick words in their kissers!

THIS BUSINESS of controlled and directed press conferences has reached alarming proportions in Washington. Unless something drastic is done it won't be long until the people will get no more straight, undistorted facts about their business; only what some serpentine-brained propagandist-press agent thinks is safe for them to hear!

★ ★ ★

I AM SO seriously concerned over this trend I hate to inject anything that even smacks of levity. But these controlled press conferences frequently produce the most grotesque and ridiculous situations.

I have in my possession an actual account of a press conference at the War Department. An officer who had become fed up from repeated performances of the same act took secret stenographic notes.

The fellow being interviewed was a young air hero. It developed he had a great many legitimate complaints but every time he started to air one the public relations officer headed him off by suddenly interjecting: "What Maj. So-and-So means . . ." And then proceeding to give his own interpretation.

My gosh, folks, I'm sorry! On reading it over I realize that not one of the young hero's remarks can be salvaged for publication. They're far too pungent!

HATE TO BUILD you up like this and then let you down. But the thing just can't be nice-Nellied without losing all meaning.

★ ★ ★

IN THE Deficiency Bill now pending before the House, Secretary of Commerce Wallace has requested the largest amount for public relations in the department's history.

My reaction, from having heard a lot of his speeches, was that Mr. Wallace was quite sufficiently articulate without having to hire a press agent. But, apparently, I was wrong again.

Anyway, our Mrs. Janet Green called Wallace's office to make a routine check. She asked if the Secretary planned any press conferences in the immediate future.

This—and may I have to eat oleomargarine the rest of my life if it ain't true!—was the reply:

"Not until he finds out whether or not Congress is going to give him more money to spend on public relations!"

I HAVE studiously refrained from any comments anent Miss Violet Gibson, a Press Association copy girl at the Capitol who was taken to Hollywood for a movie tryout, because I do not wish to encourage juvenile brashness.

I thought Miss Gibson could get along quite nicely without any publicity from me. The 18-year-old whirlwind got herself a two-page spread in one of the picture magazines and then knocked the delicate sensibilities of the town's lady journalists by screaming—just as the train started:

"Look out, Charlie Chaplin and Errol Flynn! Here I come!"

One reason I refrained from the general glorification of Miss Gibson was that I did not think her story was particularly good for Hollywood morale. Most actors and actresses have to work and sacrifice for years—real blood, sweat and tears—to get a shot at the movies. I did not think they would be happy to know Miss Gibson achieved the same largely because of her heart-y and whole-souled penchant for slapping august Senators quite low across their backs.

I will not dispute that Miss Gibson is a character. In my way I am quite fond of her. In published interviews she said I was her "ideal newspaperman." A decision she apparently arrived at after I roped her to a chair in the Senate press gallery because she would not keep her nose out of my typewriter.

But now Miss Gibson is back with us. She remains silent about her Hollywood experiences and for a few days she was very glum. However, I am glad to report she is rapidly becoming her old self again.

She confided loudly she is quite annoyed with the Countess Austine Cassini over a piece the latter wrote about her.

"The next time I see Madame Cassini," screamed Miss Gibson, with her habitual maidenly reserve. "I am going to beat the h— out of her!"

If anything comes of this I will let you know, together with the blow-by-blow and weights at ringside.

Drawn by Scott Brown—Copyright, 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

"Gee whiz, Mom, I did what you told me. You said to take that rug out and beat it—that's what I did!"

Boston After Dark

EXCLUSIVE: Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., has hired a summer home at Cotuit, Cape Cod, for the summer . . . The house is owned by Colin McLeod, the Bay State man who owns good race horse stock . . . Mr. McLeod himself once worked for the Treasury Department . . . He was Agent in Charge of Internal Revenue under Hoover . . . Very wealthy and quite popular, he has divided his time of late years among three states.

★ ★ ★

HE WINTERS in Florida, breeds horses in Virginia, and has fun and clips coupons in Massachusetts . . . A nice man, Colie, but quite hardboiled in a deal . . . In fact it was he who showed the way to possible stock-holding successors by demanding and getting a regular wage from the Revere dog track . . . In exchange for these emoluments and the continued goodwill of his fellow-stockholders, Mr. McLeod relinquished much of his stock . . . But his contract is described as Old Ironsides itself.

★ ★ ★

WELL, we must now confess that the foregoing has been a preamble . . . We have news—more important news even than the not insignificant exclusive bulletin that Henry the Morgue (as the late FDR was wont to call his Treasury boss) is about to be a summer resident of dear old Massachusetts.

★ ★ ★

THE NEWS is that Mr. Morgenthau shortly within two weeks at most—will respond to one of those "understandings", and his resignation will be accepted by President Truman . . . Lovely Cotuit (Mass.) will be the locale for the Morgenthau transition from active Capitol duty, to the comparative sinecure of private life and long distance gentleman-farming.

★ ★ ★

BUT THE IMMINENT DEPARTURE of Henry the Morgue from Washington—as the fifth Roosevelt cabinet member to feel the skillful Truman axe—is not our sum of revelations for today . . . Your large-hearted correspondent took a circumlocutory course in getting around to the bad news about Henry the Morgue, as we simply hate to pass along bad news, however exclusive . . . But duty is business . . . So it is with deep regret that we now predict the next subsequent pair of dismissals from the High Councils of Washington—the two which immediately will follow that of Mr. Morgenthau.

ONE IS TO be the "resignation of Winthrop Rockefeller, alleged "goodwill ambassador to Latin America" . . . The other is to be that of Archibald MacLeish . . . Mr. Rockefeller, probably will do all right, and needs no sympathy . . . As for Mr. Archibald MacLeish, the "poet" of the late New Deal he was tucked away as Librarian of Congress—presumably for life . . . But Archie is going! Really going . . . Really and truly and undeniably going . . . So having approached the Morgenthau and Rockefeller resignations with seemly hesitance and regret, may we be permitted to indulge a compensatory urge now to cheer? . . . Archie MacLeish is going! Hooray! Hooray!!

Broadway

By Dorothy Kilgallen

Copyright, 1945, King Features Synd., Inc.

NEW YORK, July 3—Someone suggested to me the other day that I ought to campaign for the revival of some old George M. Cohan musical shows, and if a few lines of type in this space constitutes a campaign (after all, I haven't time to picket Max Gordon or Vinton Freedley with placards) I am happy to oblige.

Dorothy Kilgallen

Personally I would be a customer at "Little Nellie Kelly" or "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway" any night in the week, for I never saw the originals but the era in which they were born has always held a quaint 23-skidoo fascination for me and I would pay a large price to be able to turn back the time machine and see a Cohan hit on its opening night. The next best thing, I suppose would be a revival in if possible the original spirit.

My father, who is not exactly a gaslight character but will admit to having worn pegtop trousers, always seemed to regard "theater" and "Cohan" as virtually synonymous, and whenever I would rhapsodize on a new actor in the Broadway area he would shoot me a look of cool deprecation and say, "Cohan could top them all."

His basis of comparison was rather fragile, for he has not done much theater-going in recent years and I fear he has missed the better goings-on around Shubert Alley, but even if he had not skipped an opening night in the past 15 years I know he would still maintain: "Cohan could top them all."

HIS ALLEGIANCE was slightly divided in the feminine field. He would say flatly: "None of them can come up to Jane Cowl," then add with a burst of fairness: "Or Ethel Barrymore." He liked Ruth Gordon, too, but the early Ruth Gordon, when she was playing with Gregory Kelly. He hasn't gotten around to seeing her in the past 10 years or so.

Dad maintains that there aren't any songs nowadays like "It's a Grand Old Name" and "Give My Regards to Broadway," and if one of his daughters says thankfully, "That's fine!" he puts it down to the ignorant cynicism of a generation that doesn't know a good tune when it hears one. "Why, those songs," he says, "were hits!"

So I am curious to see an old George M. Cohan musical, and if some kind producer will revive one, I promise to go and take the family. The slim gentleman in the first row will be my Dad. The girl with the very small chip on her shoulder will be me.

Medal to Honor Ernie Pyle

WASHINGTON, July 3 (AP)—Award of a posthumous medal for merit to Ernie Pyle, war correspondent, was announced today by the Army, Navy and State Department.

It will be presented tonight to Mrs. Pyle, who will fly here from Denver for the ceremony. The presentation will take place after the National Press Club's preview of the film, Ernie Pyle's "Story of G. I. Joe," in the Palace Theater here.

A number of high military and diplomatic officials, including the Earl of Halifax, British Ambassador, will take part in the tribute to the correspondent who was killed by a Japanese sniper on Ie Shima. The ceremony will be broadcast over a nation-wide hookup and over the armed forces network.

All-Star Stage Bill for Boston

A four-star stage-and-screen combination, which will take over the RKO Boston Thursday, looks like a must.

Heading the stage bill are John Calvert, whose magic even has the doubting Thomases of show business popeyed in amazement; John Boles, handsome singing star of stage, screen and radio who is a particular Hub favorite, and Sue Ryan, the irresistible comic star of "Ziegfeld Follits" and "A Lady Says Yes." The zany twosome of Olsen and Johnson in "See My Lawyer," their latest screen release, totes up a bill designed to please one and all no end.

Calvert and his Mystifiers rates a topflight magic show . . . one that has startled theater and nightclub audiences the world over. Prepare yourself for the incredible and then some. Lady Godiva on a white horse floats through the air above the audience. Hitler's head is chopped off. The most beautiful girls in the world appear and disappear by magic.

A girl is visibly sawed in half with a huge whining buzz-saw powered by electricity. Dr. Jekyll becomes Mr. Hyde before your wide-open eyes.

Holiday Bills on Downtown Screens

"Flame of the Barbary Coast," starring John Wayne, Ann Dvorak and Joseph Schildkraut in Republic's top-budget Barbary Coast extravaganza, and "Steppin' In Society," with Edward Everett Horton and Gladys George, move to the Modern Theater tomorrow . . . The Humphrey Bogart murder mystery thriller, "Conflict," will be the holiday attraction at the Washington st. Olympia and Scollay screens, along with "Swingin' On a Rainbow," the Jane Frazee-Brad Taylor starring musical.

'My Sister Eileen' Scores

By PEGGY DOYLE

"My Sister Eileen," the Broadway classic about the pretty, helpless chick in the big city, needs no clocker to tab the laughs . . . these being as certain and unstinted as rain on a local opening-night.

Last night at Brattle Hall, where the Cambridge Summer Theater presented Libby Holman with Leila Ernst in the Chodorov-Fields comedy, the inevitable happened. Sturdier playhouses have rocked with laughter over the wholesome, frequently misinterpreted predicaments of Eileen and her big sister, Ruth. It is to be hoped that Brattle Hall can take it for seven performances.

Eileen is the girl from any small town. She is as good as she is desirable. Her innocence and her provocatively curved chassis . . . are forever getting her into the darnedest situations.

Pauline's silent-picture perils pale beside Eileen's adventures in a Greenwich Village sub-basement apartmnt. Past its uncurtained window parade the curious, the preoccupied and the frankly predatory, including cops, kids, floozies, dogs, drunks and assorted boyfriends of Eileen.

Miss Holman, one-time celebrated torch - singer, Broadway star and, more recently, concert-singer, brings a naturalness and a nice comedy sense to the role of big-sister Ruth. Her obvious enjoyment of her "sides" may be attributable to first-night nervousness, which doubtless will be just a rumor tonight.

Miss Ernst, the former Boston deb, whose prettiness got her her first stage assignments, has been learning these past few years and her Eileen is praise-worthy proof. Also adding to the evening's enjoyment are Bruce Adams' stage-struck landlord, William Becker's Rambling Wreck, Robert Foster's ardent, awkward drug-clerk and others in the colorful window parade.

Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Tuesday, July 3, 1945

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY—Your planet is the Moon, suggesting a changeable, variable disposition; fond of the beautiful and good in life. You are sensitive, emotional and very domesticated. Patriotic, kindly. Have a retentive memory especially for historic events, may be highly interested in matters of public welfare. A fertile imagination. If undeveloped are too easy-going. Can become fine nurse, public speaker, doctor, business man or woman. Birthdate: Henry Grattan, Irish statesman; Louis XI, king of France.

CHICAGO, July 3 (AP)—Farmer Frank Kunze lost his sheep and didn't know where to find them. He left them alone but they didn't come home, so he went to Sheriff Michael Mulcahy.

The sheriff knew where to find the 25 sheep, but Kunze had to pay another farmer for their upkeep since their disappearance June. 16.

Review of 25 Years Ago: Guide to Post War Future

By AUSTEN LAKE

SOME FORGOTTEN PHILOSOPHER has said, "Man fashions his tomorrows by studying his yesterdays." Let's thumb over the pages of Memory's Album to that fantastic, zany period following the first world war. Perhaps by reviewing that elder day we may find a guide to the new. For, though the news files of a quarter century ago are brittle, the type gray and the bindings mouldy, many of the headlines and sentiments of that older time are curiously up to date.

Austen Lake

Twenty-five years ago the national press bleated about "underground merchandising"—the forerunner of our black market. Herbert Hoover declared that "the most critical food shortage in history faced the nation." Eggs were 75c the "guaranteed dozen," month-old potatoes 90c a peck and a "fair price" for bacon was 53c a pound.

An acute sugar shortage existed and housewives got sacro-iliac from standing in lengthening queues. Editorial writers remarked on the "incivility and discourtesy of shop clerks who took advantage of goods-scarcity and money-plenty to deport themselves to arch-eyed duchesses and dukes handing alms to the rabble." Cigaret sales zoomed sharply as women (quote Philadelphia Ledger) "cast off ancient domestic shackles and made public furnaces of their lungs, gin-vats of their stomachs and peep shows of their thighs."

Returned Soldiers Found It Tough!

THE INTERNATIONAL WORKERS of the World ballooned into a recalcitrant labor agency. A "red communist" scare swept the country. The program of postwar taxes under a topheavy Washington beaurocracy caused Vox Pops to write editors that the "national financial structure is doomed." Freshly discharged soldiers, skilled in machine guns, trench mortars and hand grenades, found themselves classified as "unskilled labor." Wrote the New York Times, "After the first flush of extravagant gratitude, the soldiers find that business does not want to be dislodged from its accustomed rut. Women cling to their emergency jobs and employers, finding female labor cheaper and efficient, is reluctant to turn them off . . . 'Our brave heroes' discover they are without preference in their struggle to resume our 'normal way of life'."

War marriages, contracted in emotional haste, were being repented in postwar leisure and Collier's Weekly mourned that "thousands of post-adolescent war brides, invariably mothers, meet their young soldier husbands as complete strangers . . . spiritually and financially unable to solve the confusion of making a home." The age of jazz was born and the Baltimore Sun editorialized on the "narrow shoulder buffoons who beat the black keys in a frenzy of jungle tom-toms while dancers drool with the idiocy of the hour."

Wall Street delirium was entering its pink elephant stages when chambermaids, bell hops and taxi drivers grew J. P. Morgan complexes. Women shed their corsets and the Ladies' Home Journal featured articles on the "new hygiene," commenting anxiously on the "error of mistaking malnutrition and self-starvation for a stylishly flat, boyish figure." It worried "lest the 'debutante slink become the national feminine posture."

Gene Fowler, the acrid Westbrook Pegler of his time, was not so kind. He wrote: "Grandmas bare their Chippendale and Sheraton gambs and koochie along for the edification of masculine loons. Many a lorn sailor pursuing a revamped stern down the street discovers on facing the prey it is pre-General Grant stuff. The dames have captured the barber shop and the men have quit singing bass. This is perhaps the most blatant, ugly and vulgar decade in American annals."

Somehow Our Youth Survived!

THE FIRST WORLD WAR KILLED more than men. It bred a new fanaticism. There seemed to be no sane middle ground where men could be God-devoted without being venomously bigoted, where folk could be playful without becoming gin-corroded satyrs, where people could be prosperous without chizzlry, profiteering and a gyp-brotherhood.

Prohibition shot the heart of what was left of human decency and fair dealing. With prohibition crime ceased to be mere enterprise and became an industry. And from its witchpot rose the modern criminal with his machine gun, his fleet of automobiles, his financial backers and his high-priced lawyers. The old-time gangster and rings of pug-uglies who were once the servants of unscrupulous politicians now became their masters. Gangland's mice, like Boston's dope-peddling Charles Solomon, became full grown rats, "kings" with plush night clubs and fawning retinues and friends in political high places. The racket was born and some of the muscle pioneers crept into labor organization, where a laissez-faire administration protected them, to the detriment of honest workers and honest management.

But with-all there was a sound, sterling core within the American people which survived this wild and vulgar spending orgy and the final rock-bottom panic which shook the bangles from the Christmas tree. The youth of the country, though spawned in this period of pandemonium and defloration, somehow preserved the qualities which made this nation great. It took another second World War to show that our youth was as tough-fibered, sound and sacrificial as any of our pioneer forefathers.

Youth hasn't changed much in 25 years. And what Philip Gibbs wrote as their valedictory 25 years ago still holds today. He said of the men in the other World War: "All the lives of these high-heart boys, so eager, so vital, will have been sacrificed in vain if the nation and the world is not uplifted to some plane a little higher than the barbarity of the past. They will have been betrayed if the society for which they fought does not recognize the selfless spirit of their sacrifice and contribute as much. If not it will lead to another new and more monstrous conflict."

That was 25 years ago! It goes double today!

9 Games in 6 Days Hard On Braves Pitchers

By BILL GRIMES

"Right now, with nine games to play in six days," declared Bob Coleman this morning, "I wish that while I was in 'show business' I'd paid more attention to those Jap jugglers.

"I've got to do some fancy juggling with my pitchers to get through that barrage of contests. We have a single game with the Cubs this afternoon. Well, I'm all set for that one, with Nate Andrews. He was under the weather with a heavy cold on his last time out, which was against the Reds. He's all right now. If he's as good as he was in Brooklyn, we'll be all right, too.

Nate Andrews

"I'm hoping that Al Javery and Joe Heving will be ready before the end of the week. I've been watching Javery closely since we returned home. He looks better every day. He can now come overhand, which is his natural delivery, and something he hasn't been able to do all season. However, he isn't quite natural as yet, when he throws his fast curve ball. Instead of letting the curve go with his arm well extended from his body, he comes straight down.

"Javery hasn't seen much action this season. So, I believe it will be better for him to finish up a few games before starting one. It doesn't require much of a lay off to lose the feel on pitching, even for a hurler, who has been up here as long as Javery.

"Although I haven't anything but the highest praise for Hutchings' relief pitching, I would like to have Heving available to go in and stop enemy uprisings. We'd be sitting pretty in the National League race, if Joe hadn't hurt his arm in Chicago. He would have eliminated much of the suffering we underwent during the month of June. I hate to recall the number of situations he would have pulled us out of, if he'd been fit. Bad relief pitching has cost us many games this season.

"In the event Javery and Hevling get back into active service this week, I'll have as many relief men as I have starting pitchers. Mort Cooper can go in there and pour fast balls at opponents for two or three innings without effecting his sore elbow and, of course, there's old reliable "Hutch," who has now come to realize that he is a far better pitcher than he thought he was. And, with Javery and Heving, I'd have a quartet of experienced hurlers to call upon when my starting pitchers get into serious trouble.

As it stands now, Nate Andrews, Jim Tobin, Bob Logan and and Ewald Pyle are my starting pitchers. If they are anywhere near right, they should win with the power we have in Tommy Holmes, "Chuck" Workman, Phil Masi, Joe Medwick and Carden Gillenwater, who can and will get them plenty of runs against almost any pitcher in the league. And, when a spot develops for a pinch hitter, we have "Butch" Nieman to work on right hand pitchers and Bill Ramsey in reserve for southpaws."

The Braves and Cubs will play a twin bill tomorrow and a single game on Thursday. Then, Frank Frisch will bring his Pirates to town for a double-header on Friday, a single contest Saturday and another twin bill on Sunday.

Braves Ship Earley; 5 Juggled in Trades

The Braves management announced today trades with the Milwaukee and Iidianapolis clubs involving five players. Don Hendrickson's, a right-handed pitcher with a record of eight wins and two losses in 17 games tod ate, reports to the Braves tomorrow.

He is 29, stands 6.2, weighs 180 pounds. In return for Hendrickson the Braves are sending Ewald Pyle, recently obtained from the Giants in the Medwick-Klutz deal, to Indianapolis outright. The Tribe also sends Mike Ulisney, a rookie catcher, to the same club on 24-hour option.

Tom Earley also goes to Indianapolis.

Ben Cardoni, a Braves rookie who has been pitching for Indianapolis, is being sent to Milwaukee for further schooling in this Class AA loop.

30,000 to See Yankee Stakes at Suffolk

By JACK CONWAY

WITH FAIR weather, Suffolk Downs should have the greatest day of its meeting tomorrow when the $25,000 Yankee Stakes will head an eight-race card. The attendance is likely to be more than 30,000 while the mutuel handle will top $1,500,000.

There are ten likely starters in the Yankee Stakes. They are Darby Dieppe, who will carry 122 pounds, King Dorsett 118, Beldine 114, Sea Swallow 113, Michaelo 112, Hedron 110, Jim's Boy 110, Pindus 110, Hammer-Lock 106 and Poco Mas 104.

Charley McLennan

In the event of mud, Son Admiral 114 and Paper Mill 110 may be starters.

Beldine displayed blazing speed during a recent victory at Suffolk Downs. Despite his early speed, Beldine had enough in reserve to come roaring through the stretch.

Darby Dieppe, despite his impost of 122 pounds, is likely to go to the post a favorite.

Hammer-Lock has turned in some creditable performances at the Suffolk meeting and he will have plenty of backers. The other starters will also have their supporters.

There is always a chance in a hundred of a long shot winning. Racing secretaries try to allot weight so that the entire field will stage a blanket finish. Charley McLennan gave much thought to awarding the weights for the Yankee Stakes.

Texas Sandman Stars

TEXAS SANDMAN, who finished second to Louis Mayer's Thumbs Up in the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap, first showed promise of being a great thoroughbred while racing in New England. There were many New England racegoers who played Texas Sandinan across the board in the Santa Anita Handicap.

The Santa Anita Handicap will be held during the winter meeting in future. This will result in better fields as Californian racing is always most attractive to the horsemen during the winter season.

The increased mutuel handles at Santa Anita despite drop in attendance attests to the popularity of the turf sport as well as the fact Coast racegoers have plenty of money due to booming war plants and the freedom of money in the movie colony.

Eddie Joost May Be In Action Next Week

Eddie Joost, the Braves second baseman, who has been on the injured list for three weeks with a broken wrist, returned yesterday from San Francisco, where he has been recuperating. He was examined yesterday by Dr. Harold Lee and expects to be able to get back into action before the Colemen go West one week from tonight. Joost started to workout today.

Raymond Smith, who has been the Braves' batboy for three years, will quit his job after today's game with the Cubs. "Smitty" is going into the service, so the Braves will present him with a purse this afternoon.

For the past few days, Manager Bob Coleman has had Carden Gillenwater out mornings. He's trying to teach the fleet center fielder to hit to right field and cut down on his swing. If he masters the knack of hitting to the opposite field, Gillenwater will not have any trouble getting into the .300 class.

If the Braves had traded Tommy Holmes for a third string minor league catcher, the fans throughout the country wouldn't have been any more startled then they were over the appointment of Ben Chapman to manage the Phillies.

Realizing that if his charges continue the week-end winning streak, they can move into the first division, Manager Bob Coleman will drive the Braves to the limit against the Cubs and Pirates, with whom they have nine games listed for this week, with double-headers tomorrow, Friday and Sunday.

Sox Undergo Many Changes

By HERB FINNEGAN

DETROIT, July 3—It was interesting to scan the Red Sox lineup that Joe Cronin will field in the night-before-the-Fourth twi game against the Tigers this evening. Only Johnson, Steiner and Culberson remain of the nine that dropped the opening game of the season in Yankee Stadium.

Compare the lineups:

TODAY	APRIL 17
Lake, ss	Steiner, 2b
Steiner, 2b	Metkovich, 1b
Camilli, 1b	Fox, rf
Johnson, lf	Johnson, lf
Lazor, rf	Cronin, 3b
Tobin, 3b	Culberson, cf
Culberson, cf	Newsome, ss
Garbark, c	Walters, c
Ferriss, p	Cecil, p

Some difference, Eh? Further, Culberson has just regained his center field post after watching Christopher and McBride fail to supplant him.

The changes, for the most part, have been gradual and progressive. Cronin broke his ankle April 19 and gave way to Tobin. The latter, in turn, lost his job to Bucher only to win it back in the recent St. Louis series.

Newsome was injured in May. Lake stepped in, and has been playing so well Skeeter is still riding the bench. Lake hit six home runs during the month of June. Fox's arm and mouth ailments gave both McBride and Lazor a shot at his right field berth, and Lazor has been hitting so harshly Fox may have trouble getting his job back. Now Lou Finney is back to make it a tripartite battle for the post.

GARBARK SWELL FIND

If there was one fellow who seemed sure of his job at seasons start it was Metkovich. "The only man of the lot who will be a regular on our post-war Sox," Cronin termed him. Now Metkovich has given way to Camilli, but the "Cat may yet wind up in center field, or alternate with the right handed hitting Culberson."

Garbark was third string catcher on April 17, but once he got a shot at the job he couldn't be ousted. He was a grand pickup.

It's been the same way among the pitchers. The big four at the start of the season were Cecil, Dreiseverd, Wilson and Bowman. Wilson is the only one of the four still around, and he has lost starting job.

Ferriss, of course, was the pickup of the century. But the improvement of Hausmann has helped no end. And Helfin promises to give the Sox a lift. The club's hitting has been getting better and better until, now it seems the best in the league.

But what are the Sox going to use for pitchers behind Ferriss and Hausmann? And perhaps Heflin. The doubleheader season is upon us. Unless O'Neil and Wilson stand up, or relief men Ryba and Barrett step in, the Sox will slide down the ladder gradually. You've got to have pitching to win.

Yank Terry gave up homers 7 and 8 in the first game of Monday's twin bill with the Browns. Kreevich's came with three aboard. Thereafter the Browns coasted to a 7-1 win. Pitcher Jakucki homered in the eighth off Yank, who hasn't won a game all season . . . Heflin pitched a grand game and would have won, 2-1, had not Tobin stumbled after fielding Christman's grounder that would have made the third out in the ninth. So what? So Kreevich doubled home Stephens and Christman to give the Browns a 3-2 victory and dropped the Sox to fourth place . . . It was a grand performance by Heflin, who was making his first major league start. He served in the Navy for 28 months, and was discharged only last January.

Baseball Loop Over 'Manpower Hump'

CHICAGO, July 3 (AP)—Major league baseball may be "over the hump" as far as its manpower shortage is concerned. The American League reports that a peak of 268 men in service was reached about two weeks ago, but that since the figure has dropped to 263.

Recently discharged were Hank Greenberg, Detroit Tigers; Red Ruffing, New York Yankees; Sam West, Chicago White Sox; Pete Appleton, St. Louis Browns, and Charles Bowles, Philadelphia Athletics.

Inventor of Plastic Grid Helmet Dead

EVANSTON, Ill., July 3 (AP)—John Tate Riddell, 59, sporting goods manufacturer, whose plastic football helmet was adopted by the Army for the use of paratroopers died yesterday.

Sox vs. Braves

Red Sox and Braves local rivalry was carried into the American Association last night when the Sox farm team at Louisville defeated Indianapolis 3 to 2 in a battle between these loop leaders. Sox and Braves players clutter both batting orders.

Main interest centers around the pitchers. Dick Callahan the former New Orleans high school ace who cost the Red Sox $15,000 for signing on the hill for the Colonels. Opposed to him was Ed Wright, former Atlanta hurler who doubtless will be on the Braves pay roll next fall since the Tribe has first selection of Indianapolis pitchers. Wright pitched a no-hit no-run game early in the season.

Other Braves players in this Indianapolis lineup are Ben Geraghty, Duke Shupe, Stan Wentzel and Catcher Brady. In the Louisville lineup, aside from the Callahan baseball beauty the Sox have Nick Polly, Shofner, Barath, and a couple of kids from the Scranton farm, La Forest and Genevese. Callahan gave up 6 hits and Wright 12 last night.

Predicts Powerful Army Grid Team

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 3 (AP)—Herman Hickman, West Point line coach, has confirmed what a lot of other football fans have been thinking.

He says Army will field another powerful football team next season, with the backfield built around halfback Glenn Davis and fullback Felix Blanchard of South Carolina.

Yanks Near Record Leaving Men on Base

By Associated Press

The second-place Yankees of the American League, who are kicking the ball around on their current Western trip, reached the point yesterday where they booted a chance to set a new major league record for leaving men on base.

The Yanks have committed 17 errors in nine games.

Going into the eighth inning of the second game with the White Sox at Chicago's Comiskey Park, it seems a cinch the McCarthymen would wipe out the present mark of 18 strandees. They had 16 runners marooned in the first seven innings.

In the eighth, however, only one man was left and Bud Metheny cut short even a chance to tie the record by grounding into a double play in the ninth which retired the Yanks with the sacks clean.

The Yanks were happy, though, for despite leaving 17 stranded, they snapped a five-game losing streak by beating the Sox, 6 to 1, to gain a split for the afternoon. Bill Zuber scattered seven Sox hits while the Yanks rapped three Chicago twirlers for 12 hits and were aided by 11 walks, one hit batsman and two errors.

The Sox moved into third place by taking the opener, 11 to 6, behind Ed Lopat as the Yanks made five errors. Four runs in the fourth and five in the fifth made it a runaway for Jimmy Dykes' men.

The Washington-Cleveland game and the St. Louis-New York game in the National were rained out. All the other clubs had an open date.

Holmes Hit .500 For Past Week

Tommy Holmes, Braves outfielder, batted at an even .500 clip during the past week ending Sunday and now is far out in front in the major league's hit parade.

Thirteen blows in 26 times at bat hiked his National League average to .397, a gain of 11 points.

In contrast to Holmes' skyrocketing, veteran Tony Cuccinello of the Chicago White Sox sank one point to .341 but retained his lead in the American League.

Goody Rosen of Brooklyn slipped eight points to .358 in his chase of Holmes. Cuccinello, however, for the first time in weeks, faces a severe threat in the climbing George Case of Washington.

The Senator took over the runnerup spot a week ago from Nick Etten of the Yankees, when his average zoomed from .318 to .327. Now he has worked up to .332, a gain of 14 points in two weeks that puts him only nine behind the leader.

Bit of Buzz Is Dog Sensation

A little obscure greyhound from Wakefield, Mass., which gave his owner every reason in the world to be proud of him, won the hearts of more than 20,000 fans last night, at Wonderland's Revere's 1945 opening, by outshining the efforts of America's finest racing thoroughbreds to capture the featured Inaugural Event, in 31.4 performance over the 5-16 mile course.

It was Jimmy Ryan's Bit Of Buzz, which didn't seem to mind the presence of such competitors as Martin Roll, 1944 Wonderland Derby winner, pacing against him in the night's big greyhound attraction, which earned early recognition for the Bay State Kennel protege, making his debut at the Beach City track.

Breaking fourth out of the starting-box, Bit Of Buzz received a real rough trip for most of the 550 yard racing route, but showed his outstanding racing qualities by besting a poor fifth at the one-eighth post to second at the stretch. Then, giving every ounce of his reputed racing strength, the Massachusetts speedster put aside the final bid of Mrs. Myron A. Haugh's peppy Jubilant Judge, to gain a fine two length victory.
